

DanFlow 3000 Plus

Flow meter connected to a computer or notebook using a wireless connection offers advanced features.

- DanFlow 3000 Plus flow meter is a highly reliable uroflowmetry device wirelessly connected to a computer, notebook or tablet.
- Connection is possible at the 866/915 MHz frequency or via BlueTooth on Windows based systems.
- Tablet version is possible also as a portable version.
- Optional setting according to end-user's request: start of the measurement by the flow detection; light signalization; sound signalization.
- Advanced SW functionality includes automatic/manual uroflowmetry, patient database, real time flow curve, multiple types of nomograms.

